The Louis XV. rants. Then there are other little hats adorned entirely with atrawberry-vines, others with small flowers not set on "by rule and plummet," but massed like the purple depths of a bed of violets, or velvery pansies, and are called "oublies." There must be nothing stiff about such hats, or the effect is lost. Artistic taste can be shown in the blending of the white, mauve, and purple violets. A dainty caprice is shown in scarf-strings that are insteaded to the back of the bonnet. These astened to the back of the bonnet. These can be made of white dotted lace trimmed all around with Valenciennes, or of lace all around with Valenciennes, or of lace with the ends tucked and trimmed, crepe lisse of delicate shades, linen cambric trimmed with point or Valenciennes lace, Spanish lace, either black or cream color, black not dotted with tilled or gold, chenille gauze, and black velvet.

There are soft pleatings of crepe lisse inside the brim of a tint to correspond with the roses. Some of the black bonnets are brilliant with gauses and ribbous of Oriental colors and the glancing breast of some bright tropical bird. Simpler bonnets for travelling and such purposes are shown in mixed brown and ceru, in small checks and striped rough straws, trimmed with velvet to match the color of the dress; a plume of cock's feathers is added, and an ornament of smokel pearl in the shape ornament of smoked pearl in the shape ot a buckle, or slide, ot a buckle, or slide, or an arrow. Fashion concentrates her extravagance not only in lace, but in STOCKINGS AND GARTERS.

STOCKINGS AND GARTERS.

In lisle-thread stockings are as filmy and delicate as a cobweb. Silk stockings come in such tints as pale cream color, tilleul, lemon, scarlet, pink and blue. The designs embroidered upon them as copies of nature are works of art. The instep of one style of delicate blue is worked with a bunch of strawberries, and round the leg a spiral of pale flowers is exquisitely embroidered; another is dotted with moss rosebuds in garlands. Black currants, with ting green twigs, cherries, all manner of feathery ferns and flowers and vines find place in their natural colors upon those stockings, for which colors upon those stockings, for which an enormous price is asked and readily given. Some of the most elegant atockgiven. Some of the most elegant atockings have the tops trimmed with Valenciennes have ruller; between these is clasped the garter. Garlers of James I. style are fashionable. These are broad, with gold fringe and point-lace ends. They range in price from $5 to $50 a pair. Garter-buckles are made of gold or dead silver, with polished silver mottoes or the initial or monogram in genes, and in the way of sovenirs and betting gifts a pair of beautiful garters is purchased with the same consideration that is expended upon a pair of bracelets. A late trouseau contained gaiters to match the stockings; several pair were made of white volvet, with filagree silver claspe; white velvet, with filagree silver clasps; in the full resette of lace nestled a bunch of perfumed, waxy orange blossoms. A pair of gray velvet garters had stamped in blue letters the motto, "Honi soit," &c. Garter buckles can be purchased in pairs, and attached to a variety of garters at pleasure.

roses of the stockings. The Louis XV. heel is recommended, as it does not throw heel is recommended, as it does not throw the weight of the foot upon the toes; this heel is placed so far forward as to support the instep. The new Moliere boot has this style of heel, and the boot represents a low tie shoe, having two eyeletholes at the toe tied, with a black satin ribbon. Black satin slippers are trimmed with white Spanish lace; a bouquet of small flowers is placed on top. Another style of slipper has a velve strap attached to the heel and fastened around the ankle, in front, with a bow of velvet.
Seashore and mountain boots are made of stout Moroeco, water-proof, and cost $2.35. Black French kid boots are fashionably worn by children, decorated, with colored bows of ribbons to match their saakes. Small boys' toilet-slippers are sashes. Small boys' toilet-slippers are red and blue, finished with black patent-leather in applique.
THE REVIVAL OF BRUNETES

has brought amber into fashion again; it is both exquisitely clear and clouded in necklaces, beads, crosses, and combs. Scarf pins for laces and veils are very novel and beautiful; silver is the present caprice. Some styles are in dead silver enamelled in brilliant colors. A gold enamelied in brilliant colors. A gold flat pin has a dead gold back-ground, upon which in relief is the first bar of a popular old ballad, "Ever of thee," set in music. The bars and notes are in polished gold. As archery is one of the out-of-door amusements restored to fashion, gold arrows are made in a variety of ways, from the simplest form to the coatliest, where each engraved feather is ways, from the simplest form to the costliest, where each engraved feather is studded with tiny diamonds. Another has a plime of opals and head of blue enamel. Again there are others in imitation of the gorgeous peacock feather, set with gems, and another is enamelled in Oriental colors; the head in polished red gold, and the plume in green gold. Vinnigreties are both unique and varied, representing quaint vases, antique flagons, dragons, and all manner of grotsque shapes in silver, gold and crystal. gons, dragons, and all manner of gro-tesque shapes in silver, gold and crystal. More inexpensive designs, varying from $3 50 to $5, made of crystal and silver, take the shape of a dagger and sheath, a sea-gull with a fish in its bill, and in silver gilt, a horse's hoof wound about with a whip-lash. Massive silk cable-cord girdles are worn about the waist instead of chatelnines, although chatelaines are still fashiomable.

A Remedial Agent of Uncommon Power.

Power.

It is a fact which became patent years ago to the people of the United States, that Hostetter's Etomach Bitters is a remedial agent of uncommon power. As a consequence of this recognition, its sales have increased immensely at home and abroad, and it has risen to a foremost rank among the proprietary medicines of the day. Chemical analysts, after submitting it to the closest scrutiny, pronounce it absolutely pure, and skilful and conscientions medical practitioners recommend its use. A wide cal practitioners recommend its use. A wide range of disorders falls within the scope of its curative operation. An accessory to the toilet is the new style of collarette called THE "DANICHIFF."

It is a delicate arrangement of tulle pleatings lying flat and others upright, separated by three folds of silk, offering the strongest possible contrast—as for example, blue, ivory, and coral pink, pomegranate red, Lucifer red and Vesus, to, Turkish blue, yellow and white. It is made round, and also pointed, and there are culfis to correspond, to be worn either over or under the sleeves. An odd caprice of fashion appears in an imitation of the turbans worn by the colored folks in the South, taking on the same colors with a difference in the fabric. This style of breakfast cap is made of a Madras silk handkerchief or a square of some of the brilliant, striped-silk gauzes, and is very becoming to a bright brunette, or a blonde could safely adopt one in blue or rose-color stripes.

SOFT WHITE BAREUES and fine white coatings are elaborately trimmed with black velved of the narrowest width laid on in many rows, and bows of velvet dotted about, and are again or the narrowest with hald on in many rows, and bows of velvet dotted about, and are again or the object of the farmous brown, and delicate blue; tilleul, pink, and dark green, olive green, straw color and coral red. There is also a great deal of lace employed upon these dreases. Fine white muslins are similarly trimund. oms of a Diseased Liver. DAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on presure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of he shoulder, and is sometimes mis taken for a theumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of pretite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alter-native with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone comething which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is some-times an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his $12 a day at home. Agents wanted.
